EDMUNDO A. PANTEJO

for spending his life as a committed church worker, even beyond retirement—serving the church and spreading the Word. A dedicated minister, he served in the United States Federal Government as counseling psychologist and as division chief in various places at the Department of Veterans Affairs for 25 years. After retirement from government office, he served as interim pastor of the Park Place Congregational Church in Pawtucket, Rhode Island and later at the United Congregational Church in Newport. Eventually, he answered the call to come home and serve as University pastor and chaplain of Silliman University, his Alma Mater. To this day, he lives up to his commitment to church ministry, counseling, and rehabilitating troubled souls.

Given this 28th day of August 2004 in Dumaguete City, Philippines, on the occasion of the 103rd Founders Day of Silliman University.
